Mr. Bryant's Last Poem.

. Bryant's literary life extended over a pe-74 years. In 1804, at the age of ten, rinted his first poem in a Massachusetts counpaper, and on February 22d of the present he wrote his last poem as a contribution to IS! the Washington's Birthday number of the lay School Times, of Philadelphia. The memory of Washington has never received so worthy a tribute from an American poet as the six noble stanzas given below :

THE TWESTY-SECOND OF FEBRUARY.

And brief the midday's sunny hours ; The wind-swept forest seems to sigh

For the sweet time of leaves and flowers. Vet has no month a prouder day, Not even when the summer broads O'er meadows in their fresh array,

Or autumn fints the glowing woods For this chill season now again Brings, in its annual round, the morn When, greatest of the sons of men, Our glorious Washington was born.

Lo, where, beneath an icy shield. Calmly the mighty Hudson flows By snow-clad fell and frezen field Broadening the lordly river goes.

The wildest storm that sweeps through space, And rends the oak with sudden force. Can raise no ripple on his face, Or slacken his majestic course.

Thus, 'mid the wreck of thrones, shall live Unmarred, undimmed our hero's fame, And years succeeding years shall give increase of honors to his name.

Will the coming woman lecture?" asks a contemporary. If she marries she will. at at the bottom.

Unless you manage to enjoy a little of heaven beregiter. CROCERS AND PROVISION DEALERS, Next in point of meanness to doing an injury is to do a man a favor and every now and then remind him of it. George Alfred Townsend gives the Presidential ckets for 1880 as follows: Republican; Grant; Democratic, General Sherman; Workingmen, Ben. Butler. One Frenchman gives to another the following bit of advice: "Jacques, if you keep on quarreling with everybody who loves your wife, you Dealers in Lumber, Paints, Oil, Nails, Salt, and Building will soon have no friends." The phonograph is to be utilized by adding that machine to all the clocks in the house, so as to accompany their striking with appropriate remarks as to dinner. A Wisconsin constable levied on "the undivided half" of a gray mule. He was not particular which end he took, and it was thirteen days before he opened his eyes and recognized "Economy is the road to wealth." But as it is 298,000 miles long, and up hill all the way, it doesn't hold out much encouragement to a man who isn't able to travel by rail. It was a Boston man who went home early in the morning, and meeting the sad, reproachful eyes of his wife, apologized: "My darling, I hink you'll be sorry for this when you git A gorgeons English swell leading a dog, disquired at a railway station, "Must I, aw, take aw ticket for a puppy?" The bewildered clerk regarded him for a moment and then rereplied, " No, sir, you can go as an ordinary Somebody estimated that every man who lives to be sixty years old has spent seven months buttoning his shirt collar. Thirty years more ought to be added for hunting up the collar button.—Bridgeport Standard.

According to the tables in the arithmetics four roods make one acre, but we have known one acher to make one rude. The acher was on his foot and a friend tramped on it. It was an acher of corn, as it were, and thereafter the friend was a " corn-dodger."

Two wealthy wood-carvers in Massachusetts have founded a home for destitute members of the craft. Why don't some of our wealthy poets found a home for destitute poets? This could be done by roofing in one or two continents. - Danbury News.

An absent-minded Monroe (Conn.) man went to church recently with his overcoat, as he supposed, on his arm, but the laughing of the people in church called his attention to the garment which was a pair of trowsers, whose suspenders were dangling about his legs.

Somebody in the Louisville Courier Journal wildly suggests that since most of the writing in newspaper offices is done with lead pencils, it would be well to reconstruct Richelieu's aphorism thus: "The pencil called the Faber's more potent than the sabre." Says the Loneon Examiner: Dull couples get on together the most affectionately. Dull people are now quick to discover that their lives are dull, and they take each other's uninterestedness as a part of the natural order of things in this world, and are not conscious of a

It is dangerous to ask many questions. A gentleman complimented a lady by telling her that she had one of the best voices in the world. So far so good. She was not quite satisfied, however, and, hoping for still further praise, said to him coyly and meekly, "Why do you say to, sir?" That was a fatal interrogation, for he immediately replied, "Because, madame, if you i adn't it would have been worn out long

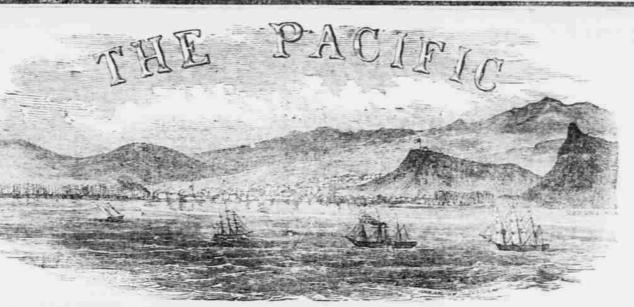

Oh, heav ans, save my wife!" shouted a man whose wife had fallen overboard in the Hudson river recently. They succeeded in rescuing her, and he said, "My dear, if you'd been drowned, what should I have done? I ain't going to let you carry the pocket-b, wk again."

A young lady was inquiring of her old nurse, the widow of a per sioner, how she got on. "Badly enough, darlin it, only the Government intends to do something for us." "And what's Government, Nora?" "Is it jokin' ye are, miss? Sure, every child knows what's Government. It's half a dozen gentlemen and sich as they may be, that meets and thinks what's best for us-and that's Government.

Edison's latest invention, says an exchange, the nicotinograph, will be a bles ed boon to smokers. All that is necessary is to charge it once with a fifty-cent cigar, when the flavor is taken up and preserved by the carbon in the receiver, and by the electric action of a four-cell battery is capable of indefinite reproduction. Thenceward it is only necessary to supply the machine with Connecticut leaf, and the smoke bears the aroma of choice Havana. "I suppose you have been to your Lodge?" she scornfully inquired, when she opened the door upon him suddenly at midnight. The door had maliciously refused response to every effort Blinks had made on the lock with a section of pretzel he held in his hands. "No, no, my dear," Blinks replied with gushing candor, n my way home theip church 'long, you there are the (hie) berries source on my stomach. Unifound strawb'ry festivals anyway abily in the season; last one'll take me in. Br day Union
